P R E F A C E .

THIS work contains 19,396 names of persons who are believed to be descended from Joseph Loomis, who settled in Windsor, Conn., in 1639. A few of the names are, however, twice inserted, so that the number of different persons is only 19,000. It will be seen from Index first, that the names which occur most frequently are Strong, Olmsted, Burnham, Skinner, Day, Hull, Judd, Noble, Lyman, Janes, Hunt, Smith, Taintor, Brown, Root, Barber, Colt, Nettleton, etc. For several of these families tolerably complete Genealogies have been published; and these books have furnished me a considerable list of Loomis descendants. In all cases, however, I have improved every opportunity to correct errors and supply omissions in previous printed lists. For most of the families named in this work no genealogy has hitherto been published, and for many of them scarcely any thing has been found in any printed volume. In such cases I resorted first to the town records of Connecticut and Massachusetts, by which means I have generally been able to obtain some information respecting the earlier generations. I next endeavored to complete the family history by personal visits to living descendants. When no further information could be obtained from these two sources, I resorted to correspondence and have thus obtained an unexpected amount of additional information. To all my correspondents who have assisted me in my labors, I return my hearty thanks; and as it is not convenient in all cases to make a separate acknowledgment, I here insert a list of the names of my contributors.

It will be seen from this work that the descendants of Joseph Loomis are very numerous in the States of Connecticut, Massachusetts, Vermont, New York, Ohio, Illinois and Michigan, and that representatives of the family are to be found in nearly every State and Territory of the Union. It will be seen that a large number of them have graduated at Yale and other colleges, and many of them have filled posts of honor and responsibility under the National and State Governments, as well as in Colleges and Professional Schools. It will also be seen from a table at the end of the work, that a large number have lived to a very advanced age. Out of less than 28,000 persons enumerated in this work and my preceding volume, six have attained to the age of 100 years, and 107 have attained to the age of 90 years, being at the rate of 381 in 100,000 persons. It is believed that few families in this or any other country can show a similar record. According to the census of 1870, the number of persons in 100,000 who had attained to the age of 90 years and upwards in the New England States and for the entire United States was as follows :

Maine,	86	Rhode Island,	51
New Hampshire,	108	Connecticut,	69
Vermont,	99	United States,	52
Massachusetts,	64	Loomis family,	381

It is not claimed that this work contains a complete catalogue of the descendants of Joseph Loomis ; on the contrary, the present list is regarded as but a small fraction of the whole number, but my materials had accumulated to such an extent that I could not advantageously proceed further without a printed copy and a complete index of the names which I had collected. If my health should be spared, I propose to continue my genealogical enquiries and intend to publish hereafter an additional volume. I therefore request that those who examine this work would give me notice of any errors which they may detect, and would furnish any additional information which they may be able to communicate respecting any of the descendants of Joseph Loomis.

LOOMIS GENEALOGY.

In the year 1875 I published the second edition of "the descendants of Joseph Loomis who came from Braintree, England, in the year 1638 and settled in Windsor, Connecticut, in 1639." That volume contained the names of 8,686 persons bearing the family name of Loomis and believed to be descended from Joseph Loomis of Windsor. Since the publication of that volume I have continued to prosecute my researches and now have the names of over 10,000 persons believed to be descended from Joseph Loomis of Windsor, and all bearing the Loomis name.

I have also made considerable progress in determining the descendants of Joseph Loomis by the female branches; that is, descendants known by other names than Loomis. My manuscript has at length become so bulky as to be inconvenient for reference, and I have concluded to print it, although I am well aware that this record is very incomplete. The arrangement of this volume is governed by the arrangement of the volume published in 1875, and I retain the same numbers. I begin with the first daughter of Joseph Loomis (No. 2) who married Capt. Nicholas Olmsted, and give all her descendants as far as I have been able to ascertain them. The names are classified by generations corresponding to the Loomis Genealogy already published, and the names are numbered consecutively to the youngest generation. I then take the second daughter of Joseph Loomis (No. 3) who married Josiah Hull. The names of her descendants are arranged in a similar manner and numbered consecutively. The descendants of the third daughter (No. 7) are arranged in a similar manner. Then follow the descendants of the female grandchildren of Joseph Loomis (Nos. 32, 36, 37, etc.) and so on with the subsequent generations.

I have also continued to prosecute my enquiries respecting the ancestors of the Loomis family in England, and with the assistance of

Mr. Joseph L. Chester have succeeded in finding the will of the father of Joseph Loomis, the emigrant. The will is that of John Loomis of Braintree, England (the name is spelled Loomis); it is dated April 14, 1619; was exhibited in the Court of the Commissary of the Bishop of London for the counties of Essex and Hertford on the 29th of May following, and was proved by the executor his son Joseph, June 21st. The following is a copy of the will verbatim. The words within brackets supply portions where the paper of the original manuscript is torn away, and they are believed to be the words of the original document.

The marke of JOHN LOOMIS [MARK.]

Theis being Wittnesses

I JOHN LUNT his marke

RICHARD KIMBOULD

(The foregoing original will, still on file, was exhibited in the Court of the Commissary of the Bishop of London for the Counties of Essex and Hertford, on the 29th of May, 1619, and was formally proved by the executor on the 21st of June following.

In the same Court, on the 15th of October, 1625, letters to administer the estate of Geoffery Lomas, of Braintree, co. Essex, were granted to his widow Priscilla.

In the same court, on the 6th of February 1631-2, letters to administer the estate of Priscilla Loomys alias Whitehead, of Braintree, co. Essex, were granted to John Lunt, of Braintree, tailor, curator and guardian assigned of Priscilla Loomys, daughter of deceased, then aged 14 years and upwards.)

The name Loomis (with its variations of spelling Lomas, Lomys, etc.) seldom occurs on any of the public records of this period in the neighborhood of London. It does not occur in the calendars of the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, or in that of the Commissary Court of London from 1585 to 1650. In the Consistory Court of London there are no wills of the Loomis name from 1362 to 1720, and the will of John Loomis given above is the only one proved in the Commissary Courts of Essex and Hertz.

We learn from the above document that John Loomis of Braintree, England, died between April 14 and May 29, 1619. He left a wife Agnes, an only son Joseph, and four daughters all married, viz: Ann Warr, Sarah Burton, Elizabeth wife of William Preston, and Jane Pengelly. Whether Geoffrey Lomas was related to John Loomis is not known, but it is noticeable that John Lunt who occupied John Loomis' house in 1619 and was witness to his will, was also administrator of the estate of Priscilla Loomys and guardian of her daughter.

In 1875 there was published in England an official Report of all the owners of land in England and Wales for 1873. I have carefully examined this Report and have copied every name which bears any resemblance to the name Loomis, and the following is the result. There were in England and Wales in 1873, 48 land owners bearing the name Lomas; there were 23 bearing the name Lomax, and there were three bearing the name Loomes. The following table shows the entire list of names, with their address; also the number of acres of land owned by each and its estimated rental expressed in pounds sterling.

The four counties in which the names Lomas and Lomax occur most frequently are Lancaster, Derby, Cheshire, and Stafford; agreeing in this respect with the result shown in the Loomis Genealogy (page 15) derived from an examination of the English Post Office Directory, and indicating that the early home of the Lomas family was in the neighborhood of Manchester.

There is reason to think that some of the other children and grandchildren of John Loomis of Braintree emigrated to New England.

Among the passengers by the Truelove from London to New England, Sept. 19, 1635, were the following persons: William Preston, æ. 44; Marie Preston, æ. 34; Elizabeth Preston, æ. 11; Sara Preston, æ. 8; Marie Preston, æ. 6; and John Preston, æ. 3. Also Edward Preston, æ. 13, came over in the Christian, March 16, 1634, and Daniel Preston, æ. 13, came over in the Elizabeth & Ann, April 27, 1635. Mr. Savage thinks that both of these boys were sons of the William Preston before mentioned and were sent out to prepare for the rest of the family who were soon to follow. In Cothren's History of Woodbury, vol. I, p. 663, it is stated that William Preston removed to New Haven, Conn., and signed the fundamental agreement of Jan. 4, 1639, and that he had four children born in New Haven. In his will, dated July 9, 1647, he speaks of children of the first and second wife. Hence we conclude that the Mary Preston, æ. 34, who came with him from England was his second wife, and we may infer that his first wife was Sarah Loomis from whom his daughter Sarah was named. It is said that he possessed real estate in Yorkshire, Eng., which he inherited from his father. This does not appear to me to prove that he did not marry the daughter of John Loomis of Braintree, for I think it probable that John Loomis came from the vicinity of Manchester.

John Pengelly was made freeman at Ipswich in 1678 and removed to Springfield, Ms., that year, living in that part now called Suffield, Ct. He was living in 1728. This could not have been the husband of Jane (Loomis) Pengelly, but may have been her son.

Several persons of the name of Burton came over to New England before 1638. Boniface Burton is mentioned at Lynn in 1630; Edward Burton at Charlestown in 1633, and John Burton at Salem in 1637.

In the New England Historical Register, vol. 8, p. 165, it is stated that the will of Abraham Warr is mentioned at Ipswich in 1654 and he had a daughter Sarah.

It is remarkable that the names of the four sons-in-law of John Loomis should be found among the first settlers of New England, especially since two of the names (Warr and Pengelly) seldom occur in this country. We may hence infer that probably some of the other descendants of John Loomis of Braintree, besides his son Joseph and his family, emigrated to New England before the year 1640.

Abbreviations employed.—Throughout the following pages the following abbreviations are employed, viz: b. for born; m. for married; d. for died; bap. for baptized. In some cases the date of marriage could not be found, but the date of publication of the intention of marriage is recorded. This fact is designated by the syllable pub.
